

First Term English Exam

Text:

A limited liability company (LLC, SARL, ش ذ م م) is a structure that separates companies and their owners. It prevents individuals from being liable for the company's financial losses, debts, and other liabilities. In the event of business failure, liability is assumed by the company rather than its constituent partners or shareholders. The prime benefits of LLC are:

- Liability protection for business owners and shareholder.
- Flexible business structure with a variety of trading options.
- May result in a lower overall tax liability.

In bankruptcy or a legal dispute with the business, LLC protects owner's personal assets like bank accounts, houses, and cars.
