Abstract:

The brutal massacres left by the French colonial machine on the victory eve of the Allies victory in May 1945, were one of the most important reasons that prompted a group of young fighters belonging to the Algerian People's Party to think about the armed revolutionary project. After reestablishing the National Movement, the first party congress on February 15 and 16 ,1947 would agree on creating a paramilitary wing in order to prepare for the armed struggle.

This newborn which was called by the Special Organization (Henceforth, S), is headed by “Mohamed Belouizdad”. It would seek to frame itself, train militants, collect weapons, and prepare for the next most confrontational step, because what is taken by force can only be restored by force. This is what the Algerians in general reached during this period.

The organization went on a secret and solid plan in its activity which seemed separate from the political party. Yet, the activity did not last long as the private organization was cam to light three years after its founding, and that was in March 1950. So, the dream of those young revolutionary enthusiasts was aborted. However, the historians have considered that the first nucleus of establishing the National Liberation Front and Army, and the outbreak of the 1st November revolution was the result of the great work carried out by the SO and its members at the end of the forties.

That is why the scientific committee of this symposium decided to organize this scientific meeting aimed at exploring the depths of this experience which is worthy of research. It also seek to explore the biographies of the SO members who were not previously identified.

In line with the "Projets de Recherche Formation Universitaire"(PRFU),i.e., University-Formation Research Projects (UFRP), which deals with translations of the organization's media .

We encourage academics across the country to submit proposals for papers/abstracts on a topic of their choice relating to the following axes:

Axis 1: Introducing the research team on the profiles of the SO members

Axis 2: members of the SO in the province of Constantine

Axis 3: members of the SO in the province of Algiers.

Axis 4: members of the SO in the province of Oran.

Axis 5: a bibliography of research in the history and flags of the SO.
