تاريخ مجيد وعمود جديد

Overview of the wilaya:

The past of the Oum el Bouaghi region goes back to the prehistoric period: around 8,000 BC. J.-C., remains attest to the presence of troglodytes living hunting and gathering. Integral part of the kingdom of Numidia, until the Punic period, the evolution of the economy of the region highlights an agrarian system dominated by the culture of the olive tree, in particular in Guediovala (Ksar Sbahi) and Makomades (Oum El Bouaghi).

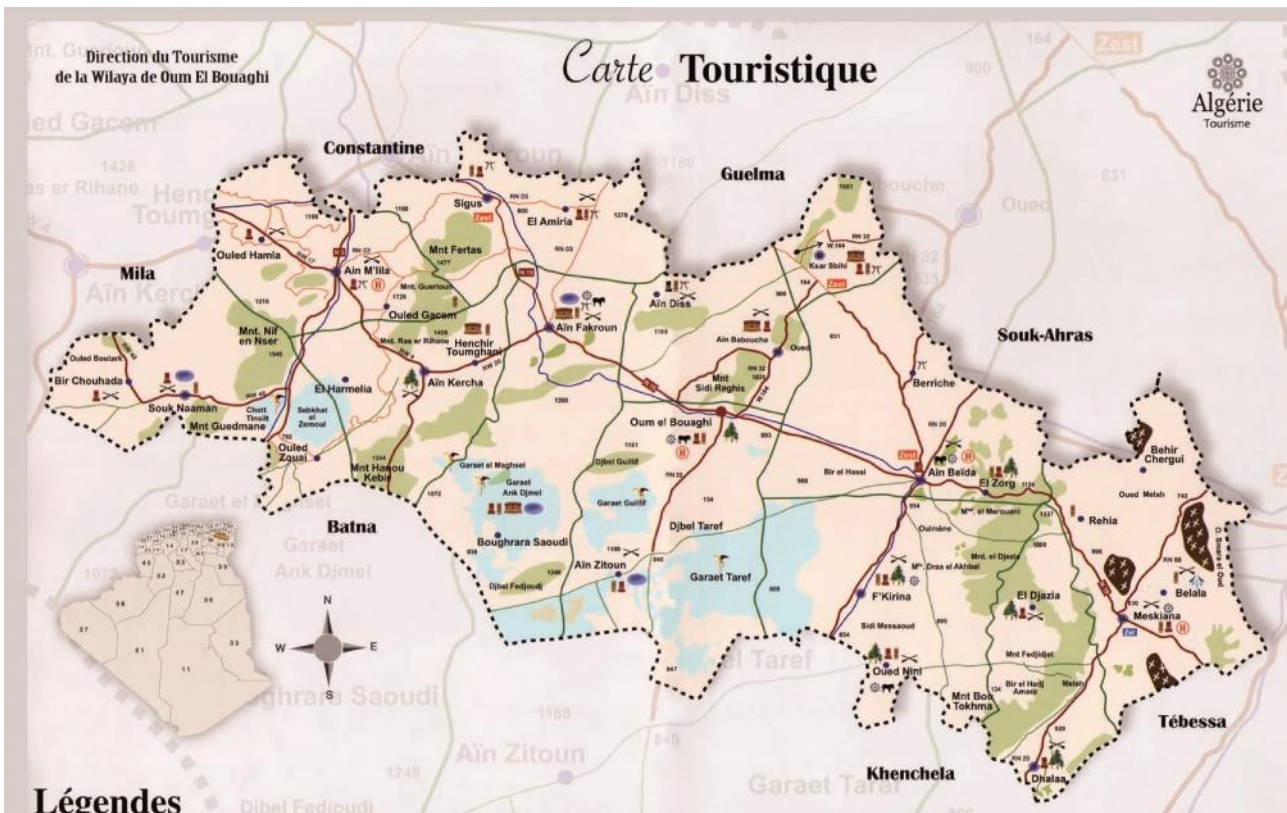

The wilaya of Oum El Bouaghi is a natural extension of the first historical state (Aures, Batna, Al Namamcha) during the great liberation revolution (1954-1962). She gave birth to many righteous martyrs, such as Larbi Ben Mhidi.

the wilaya of Oum El Bouaghi comes from the administrative division of 1974 when it depended on the former department of Constantine, it is located in eastern Algeria and has common borders with the following wilayas: Khenchel, Batna, Mila, Constantine, Guelma, Souk Ahras, Tebessa.

It extends over an area of 6,187 km² where 832,370 inhabitants are concentrated, i.e. an average density of 135 inhabitants/km². Composed of 12 dairas and 29 municipalities, it has common borders with the following wilayas: Khenchel, Batna, Mila, Constantine, Guelma, Souk Ahras, Tebessa.

The wilaya of Oum El Bouaghi is characterized by a diversified natural environment which is distributed as follows: The plains area occupies 63.8% of the total area of the wilaya and is characterized by the distribution of fertile agricultural land, while the plateaus and other land represent 18.9%. The mountainous region remains, accounting for 17.3% of the total area and distributed in the northern region.

The wilaya of Oum El Bouaghi is characterized by a semi-arid, cold and rainy continental climate, with dry winters and hot summers, with annual rainfall ranging from 200 to 400 mm. While the average temperature varies between 20° to 40° from April to September, and between 8° to 25° from October to March. Sirocco winds blow at a rate of 30 to 50 days per year, and the number of snow days is estimated at 37 days per year.

Oum El-Bouaghi University

At present, the Larbi ben M'hidi University is constituted of (7) faculties and three (3) institutes located in 5 campuses including three in the city of Oum El Bouaghi, a faculty of Applied Sciences in Ain Beida and a Technology Institute (ISTA) in Ain M'lila.

The total number of students is approximately 18,000, of which 17,115 are in graduation (Bachelor: and Master) and 889 in Post-graduation.

The targeted objectives are: better quality of training, better management of the living environment of students and staff, more quality scientific production. The strengths of our young University can ensure the achievement of these objectives.

The University, with a wide specialty spectrum, is particularly famous for the academic level in fundamental research (mathematics, physics, chemistry, natural sciences and life sciences), as well as in the field of the human and social sciences and the economic and commercial sciences. The training offer is diversified at all levels, License and Master as well as in PhD degree.
